

Beckham to open Hong Kong store

Victoria Beckham will open a store in Hong Kong next year. The 41-year-old fashion designer is thrilled with the success of her first standalone store in London and is now looking to expand internationally. She said: "Our next store will be in Hong Kong in the first half of next year, which I am incredibly excited about." In her stores, Victoria wants to cater for every level of shopper. She added to Grazia magazine: "I've always wanted people to be able to come to the store, whether it was just to browse, look at the architecture, buy a key ring or a full runway look. I have the most phenomenal shop staff."

The former Spice Girls star is also working on expanding her VVB line, the sister range to her main Victoria Beckham collection. She explained: "The VVB collection actually merged with denim this season for the first time as a result of really listening to my customer and understanding that the two categories belong together." And to mark the merger, as well as the anniversary of her London store opening, Victoria threw a lavish party last month. She said: "It was such a great night. I really wanted to celebrate the first anniversary, the new VVB/denim merge and also to be part of London Fashion Week. It's so important to relax and have fun, that night was a perfect time to reflect on everything we've achieved and have fun with friends, family and my fantastic team."

Crawford has raunchier dressing room personality

Cindy Crawford is "raunchier" in the dressing room. The 49-year-old supermodel admitted when she is backstage having her hair and make-up done she's more likely to reveal her biggest secrets or pour her heart out because afterwards she can walk out and feel "invincible". She said: "I know I have a dressing room personality that is slightly funnier and raunchier than I might have at a dinner party. In fact, it's practically mandatory! In order to keep up with the humour with some of the biggest personalities I've ever met, I have to bring my A game."

"But the make-up room is also the place where I could talk about the fight I had with my boyfriend or about feeling homesick. There, tears are dried, and friendships are cemented, so that by the time I step onto the set, I feel invincible." Meanwhile, the American beauty shared how back in her early modeling days she attended to her own hair and had to carry a bag of essential items. She told Refinery29.co.uk: "During my Chicago modeling days, in addition to doing our own hair and make-up, we also had to bring a bag of accessories to shoots. Black pumps, nude and black stockings, and earrings. "This was modeling 101. Most mornings I'd set my hair in hot curlers, pack my 'model bag,' and walk two blocks to Skrebneski Studio."

Khloe Kardashian gets hair tutorial

Khloe Kardashian can't style her own hair. The 'Keeping Up with the Kardashians' star's thick 'bronde' mane is usually looked after by a personal hair stylist but she won't be able to take Jen Atkin with her on her trip to China, so Khloe was put through her paces by Jen in a Facetime tutorial so she can look great while she's in the Far East. Khloe posted a video of the lesson on her website www.khloewithak.com and took to Instagram to upload a photo of her straightening her own locks. The accompanying caption on Instagram read: "See, who ever said you can't teach an old dog new tricks?! By @jenatkinhair Guys, I've created a monster #FacetimeHairTutorials #KardashianBeautyHair (sic)" In a Twitter post she confessed she has always been hopeless when it comes to caring for her own hair.

She tweeted: "Seriously didn't know how to do my own hair until @jenatkinhair taught me (sic)" A video clip of another style schooling posted on Twitter shows Khloe with Jen getting face-to-face tips. In the clip, Khloe takes a seat in the salon dressed in silk pyjamas as Jen stands dutifully by and attempts to teach her straightening basics. Reluctant to take up the tongs, Khloe says: "This is like a dangerous thing, so dangerous. Will I burn myself?" —Bang Showbiz

Amazon India Fashion Week

Models do the pillow fight as they present creations by Indian fashion designer Aneeth Arora during the Amazon India Fashion Week Spring Summer 2016.

Models present creations by Indian fashion designer Debarun during the Amazon India Fashion Week Spring Summer 2016 in New Delhi. —AP/AFP photos