

Toronto Fashion Week

Models walk the runway during the Narcès show at Toronto Fashion Week in Toronto, Monday. — AP photos

'Twist' Turkish couture opens its first branch in Kuwait

Under the patronage of the Turkish Ambassador to Kuwait Murat Tamer, the Twist Turkish couture brand opens its first branch. The Turkish brand, which has been established since 1997, celebrates the occasion of the opening of its first branch in Kuwait, at the Avenues Mall. Newspapers and media representatives attended the ceremony, in addition to a large group of Kuwaiti ladies and Turkish luxury fashion lovers.

Twist's team welcomed the guests who expressed their admiration of the distinctive clothes after a tour in the store where everyone enjoyed the atmosphere of the Turkish originality. Practical, comfortable and affordable is why Twist brand is in big demand in addition that the collection inspires young women to express themselves freely.

The spring and summer 2016 collection of Twist shed light on the pulse of high end fashion. The collection has worked to achieve harmony between work life and standards of couture. It takes into consideration the development of time and its changes and invented the women's upscale designs and process which take us between the journey of the day and night smoothly and professionally.

