

FASHION

Gigi Hadid is the new face of Missoni

gigihadid

Gigi Hadid

Gigi Hadid has been announced as the new face of Missoni's Autumn/Winter 2017 campaign. The 22-year-old model has been handpicked to front the designer brand's commercial, and the blonde-haired beauty has taken to social media to thank Angela Missoni, who is the daughter of the luxury label's founder Rosita Missoni, for "welcoming" her into the company and her "amazing home". The catwalk icon - who is dating former One Direction band member Zayn Malik - has shared an image from the photoshoot, which took place in Angela's home in Brunello, Italy, on her Instagram account. Gigi, who was captured clasping at a multicolored fur garment across her chest as she wears knee high socks and t-bar strap heels in the photograph, captioned the post: "new @missoni fw17 by @harleyweir , thank you @missbrunello for welcoming us into your amazing home !! (sic)." The fashion muse has admitted she feels honored and inspired to be a part of the Missoni family and to have watched Angela's "creativity come to life". She added: "It's an honor and inspiration to see your creativity come to life in all aspects of your world! big love x (sic)." The brand has also shared a string of images of Gigi in the campaign on their photo-sharing site.

One image read: "1/2 A close shot of our #MissoniFW17 campaign starring @gigihadid, shot by @harleyweir and highlighting the slim, sensual and iconic patterns of our Winter 2017 collection. Discover the campaign in full colour on Missoni.com or through link in bio! Creative Director: #AngelaMissoni@missbrunello Art Direction: #PeterMiles (sic)." And the second part of the photo was captioned: "2/2 Wonder girl @gigihadid is the star of our #MissoniFW17 campaign, shot by @harleyweir in the surroundings of #AngelaMissoni's home in Brunello. This fuzzy, colourful look is enough to make us want to move to the Southern Hemisphere just to wrap up warm! Discover the campaign on Missoni.com or through link in bio. Creative Director: #AngelaMissoni@missbrunello Art Direction: #PeterMiles (sic)." — Bang Showbiz

Jennifer Aniston

Jennifer Aniston's new perfume is a 'sensual' scent

Jennifer Aniston's new perfume is more of a "sensual" scent than her previous fragrances. The 48-year-old actress has launched a new cosmetic product titled Luxe, and the style icon has admitted her latest merchandise is different to her other perfume because it has a "little more depth". Speaking to PEOPLE about her latest venture, the former 'Friends' actress - who released her debut perfume Jennifer Aniston in 2011 - said: "The others were all a little bit more of a California beach girl vibe, [so] I wanted to go in a more sensual direction, because I hadn't really done that before. [It has] a little more depth, base and weight to it. "In this one, I love the fresh, citrus [and] floral notes mixed with the warm base notes like the tonka bean."

Jennifer has previously released J by Jennifer Aniston scene, Near Dusk and Beachscape, and although the American beauty is "playing" with her latest creation, her first perfume is the one she is most "partial" to wearing. She explained: "It's the newest one, so I am playing with that, but I always go back to my original, very first fragrance, which I am partial to." And Jennifer has revealed she will ask her husband Justin Theroux, as well as her friends, for their opinion on her products.

She explained: "He sniffs them, so do my girlfriends. I always have blotters around. I think it's interesting that a perfume will smell different on one arm to another arm and also who sort of responds to certain ones. You are trying to satisfy a wide range which is a little challenging." The 'The Bounty Hunter' star has revealed she will spray her fragrance in the air and run through the mist so she isn't "overwhelmed" by the perfume. Speaking about her method of applying the product, she said: "I usually also love to spray it in the air and run through it, so you have a hint of it, but you're not overwhelmed by it." — Bang Showbiz

GANDY WAS WARNED HE'D 'NEVER' EARN MORE THAN A FEMALE MODEL

David Gandy was "always told" he would "never" earn more than a female model. The 37-year-old model was recently announced as the only male model to make it on the top 10 rich list among catwalk icons, as he was positioned in fourth place after raking in £4 million last year, but the star has admitted he was always warned about the "limitation" for males in the fashion industry, although he doesn't agree with it.

Speaking about his career to The Sun newspaper, the dark-haired hunk said: "We were always told, 'This is your limitation you're never going to earn as much as the women', and I looked at that and I thought, 'Well, that's wrong.' "I'm in the only industry where women are more powerful than men - and earn about five times as much." And David has revealed his father, Chris, finds the fact he is less "powerful" than his female peers "hilarious".

The hunk added: "My dad still finds that hilarious. We're in the same campaigns, we're in the same coverage, and no one was really building a brand." The fashion muse, who is the face of Dolce and Gabbana's Light Blue men's fragrance, believes the fashion house "changed" the entire business, as it saw the return of the "classic, good-looking guy" and encouraged men to get "fitter". The heartthrob - who has his own line for Marks and Spencer, also known as M&S, titled David Gandy for Autograph - explained: "When I started it was just about the androgynous guy, that's what was 'in'. "With Light Blue it changed again and the classic, good-looking guy came back into modeling. So everyone started working out, training and getting their bodies really into shape - which is god. I like the fact that people get fitter because of it." — Bang Showbiz

David Gandy

THE FDCI INDIA COUTURE WEEK 2017

And Miranda, who founded her skincare company Kora Organics in 2009, has hailed her own beauty products as the reason behind her flawless complexion. And the star will apply numerous items from her range, including the Energizing Citrus Mist, as well as Eye Cream, a face tint, to her face every morning. She explained: "I use all my Kora Organics products and credit it for the health of my skin."

"In the morning, I use the Kora Organics Foaming Cleanser, Energizing Citrus Mist, Hydrating Day and Night Cream, Eye Cream, and Tinted Day and Night Cream (a healthy alternative to foundation). I use the mist as a toner and also throughout the day to keep my skin hydrated."

"At night, I use the Cream Cleanser, Balancing Rose Mist or Calming Lavender Mist (I alternate), Soothing Day and Night Cream, and the newly launched Noni Glow Oil-it contains high levels of antioxidants, essential fatty acids, and vitamins and minerals to smooth, nourish, hydrate, and brighten the skin." Miranda - who has six-year-old son Flynn with her former partner Orlando Bloom - also uses anti-ageing products "once or twice a week", as well as a face mask.

She added: "I use the Age-Defying AHA Exfoliator once or twice a week and also apply the Hydrating or Purifying Mask twice weekly, depending on what my skin needs. Sometimes I apply the purifying mask on the T-zone and the hydrating mask on the cheeks, neck, and décolletage." And the Australian star - who recently married Evan Spiegel - will happily work out whilst wearing a face mask to ensure she fits in time for everything in her busy schedule. She said: "I'm known to do a Pilates workout with a face mask on. Honestly, it's all about planning and scheduling everything in." — Bang Showbiz

Miranda Kerr

Indian Bollywood actors Alia Bhat and Ranveer Singh along with other models present creations by Indian fashion designer Manish Malhotra during the FDCI India Couture week 2017 in New Delhi on Sunday. — AFP